Asked to Put Their Mites
Into the Big Basket.

The pride that American mothers and fathers feel in their sons fighting in France is justified by more things than their prowess in the field, although we glow for it first and it will be their last glory. Individually parents feel a solemn bearing when they read of the modest bearing of the young Americans, their fearlessness and determination to put through whatever they undertake in the field.

There isn't anything these parents want to do to make their boys more comfortable, to cheer them in a foreign clime and show this pride in some tangible way. One such way is to send them tobacco. Day after day inquiries are made of The Sun Tobacco Fund if it is not possible to send tobacco directly through the fund to a particular soldier. It breaks the fund's heart to be obliged to return a disappointing answer to these natural requests. But it must—and for the reasons that have been repeated so often.

A gentleman called yesterday at the office to say that he and his neighbors had collected $1,500 which they wished to send to an artillery company of which many of their friends are members. In June last they had taken up the matter of sending tobacco to American soldiers in France, and for that purpose had organized a formal note acknowledging the receipt of their request they had heard nothing. So they came to see what The Sun could do for them.

Individual Distribution Impossible

The Sun fund cannot do anything but take their money, buy tobacco with it and get it over to the soldiers with the greatest expedition. It goes to a sector, a hospital, a regiment undesignated by the fund, and it goes to these places because at the moment of its arrival abroad there is the greatest need of tobacco.

In consequence the mothers and fathers and societies, clubs, etc., must widen their sympathies to include the whole of the American Expeditionary Force. All they need to know is that their donations to The Sun Tobacco Fund furnish smokes to American fighting men wherever they may be.

With the growth of this generous sentiment, which takes for all the fighting men—other people's sons as well as their own—has grown the block party. At first the returns from this source were comparatively small, but now that the idea has spread they are very often handsome. In the block party a fine thing, and it nearly always works out beneficially for the neighborhood as well as for the smoke fund.

The plan of raising money for the soldiers' smokes, and particularly so just now when it is making a strong effort to increase its ability to send tobacco over to the trenches. Before we know or feel the passage of time the holidays will be upon us, and we want every soldier's share of the fund to be as large as possible. The plan of the block party is a new and new year's day. If the record made by recent block parties is kept up into November its task, a significant one, will be lightened.

$1,000 Raised by One Party.

Listen to what was accomplished by this simple means last week. From the parties held for the smoke fund in Brooklyn and New York, between $250 and $2,100. Not all of this sum has been turned in, but it has been reported by the committees having the affairs in charge. The party held in Moon street between Bushwick and Evergreen avenues, turned out the banner affair of the season. Chairman John Thompson Ballou, assisted by the Rev. Duke, and the Rev. Duke, Star Spangled Banner, dancing, drawing for prizes, cabaret and dancing. A full account of this splendid demonstration of patriotic feeling by the Moon street neighbors will be given later.

The full receipts of the Linden street party, between Kneickerbocker and Irving streets, Manhattan, turned out $1,000 to the fund. The $250.62, which will be acknowledged in This Evening Sun today. Three other small parties helped the fund by $128 between them. These appear in to-day's new contributions.

In the same list appears a partial report of the Oriental fete in Chinatown, which returns so far $420. The money given by the Italian residents of the quarter has not yet been rounded up nor the percentage of the receipts of the Chinese and Chinese cars. The members of the Chinese American Alliance, who gave this party, expressed through Lee L. Loeb, secretary, their appreciation of the fund by the entertainment furnished by American volunteer artists, and they wish also to thank the Acolian Company for giving them the use of piano.

The name of Miss Emily Harford, volunteer musician, who performed yeoman service at the piano through the fund, was inadvertently omitted in the published account of the affair, and by a mistake the name of Michael Fitzpatrick, who made a popular hit by singing his own song, "Irish Volunteer," was misspelled.

Fine Weather for Parties.

Last week, therefore, it will be seen, was a splendid and lucrative one for the fund. The weather was just what the block parties needed. A number are scheduled into November and so long as weather and doors remains possible it is certain that the fund will be able to keep busy for a neighborhood to amuse itself innocently and at the same time help smokes for the soldiers.

The first affair of general interest to the fund is the Halloween party in the Yama Yama room of the Hotel St. Andrew. This will be a unique party where all the guests who come to be entertained in white dominoes will find themselves all the lights will be dimmed and pumpkin shades and there will be a show, dancing to the invigorating strains of Barlow Wallace's Jazz Band and other attractions.

On November 8 will come the party at the Wetmore's Domino Room, 1317 4th and St. Nicholas avenue. The proprietor starts off this party with a thorough donation, the dealers in the neighborhood are making it a good occasion to do their bit for the smoke fund and as there is a good cabaret show nightly the party promises well.

On Friday night of this week occurs the dance and reception of the Hancock Patriotic League, John F. Healy, president in Rogers Hall, Rockaway avenue and 44th street, Brooklyn. The net proceeds of this dance will swell the fund for Christmas smokes for the soldiers.

Party in The Bronx.

A block party in The Bronx, Rock street between 156th street and Longwood avenue, netted $713.24. A flag was raised containing forty-two stars. The names of the officers of the occasion appear appended to the contribution.

Christmas presents and liberal ones are beginning to be contributed to the fund. Remember that the coupons you put in the Sun Fund boxes in the United Cigar Stores are Christmas presents also for they will be converted into money and then into smokes and so over about that time.

$395,000 EXPENDED BY THE DEMOCRATS

Total Campaign Fund Raised
So Far Is $412,138, Official Report Shows.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—On the heels of the charge by Homer S. Cummings, acting chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that the "selfish interests" are pouring out their money without stint for Republican use so that Congress may be re-elected, the committee today issued an account of the Democratic National Committee was filed today, showing that close to half a million dollars has been received by it and most of it spent already.

Direct contributions to campaigns in the doubtful States and Congressional districts made by the Democratic National Committee amounted to $247,185, and the expenses of sending out speeches and running the organization amounted to $100,273.55.

Unpaid Bills for $48,000.

There are also bills for political activities amounting to "approximately $48,000" yet to be paid. In all it appears from the document filed today that the Democratic National Committee has received $412,138.46 and has spent more than $395,000 already.

The particular angle of the committee's fund-raising is to encourage this plan of raising money for the soldiers' smokes, and particularly so just now when it is making a strong effort to increase its ability to send tobacco over to the trenches. Before we know or feel the passage of time the holidays will be upon us, and we want every soldier's share of the fund to be as large as possible. The plan of the block party is a new and new year's day. If the record made by recent block parties is kept up into November its task, a significant one, will be lightened.

Twenty-one Got $500 Each.

In the list of disbursements the names of twenty-one Democratic Representatives appear, and each one is credited with having received $500 "for organization work." In each case they are candidates for reelection, and all have hard fights on their hands to succeed. Without exception their request for designation as members of Congress is not given, and their addresses are all given as "Washington, D. C."

The list includes Representatives H. L. Gandy (S. D.), Edward Keating (Col.), Augustine Lonergan (Conn.), A. F. Polk (Del.), John V. Leshar (Pa.), Leob D. Price (Md.), C. C. Van Dyke (Miss.), John M. Evans (Mon.), C. L. Jesseb (Neb.), Dan V. Stephens (Neb.), R. L. Doughton (N. C.), Sebulon Weaver (N. C.), I. R. Sherwood (Ohio), H. C. Clay (Ohio), E. H. Bashley (Pa.), George R. Lunn (N. Y.), C. C. Dill (Wash.), W. A. Ayres (Kan.), M. M. Neely (W. Va.), Guy T. Helvering (Kan.) and L. L. Dill (Pa.).

In explanation of the $150,000 loan it was said at Democratic headquarters today that contributions had been coming in slowly and that the committee needed money quickly. The loan will be repaid out of the contributions now coming in.

G. O. P. Spent $408,000.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, today said he had wired the clerk of the House of Representatives as follows:

For your information our report, on way to you will show total receipts, collections and money borrowed, and including $41,000 paid to the Republican Congressional Committee and $45,000 paid to the Republican Senatorial Committee (which they have reported on), of $492,345.50; disbursements, $468,096.58 up to October 26.

Mr. Upham declined to announce the names of any of the principal contributors to the fund, saying he thought these should be made known from Washington.

SMITH ANSWERS ROOSEVELT.

Recalls Collier's Attack on Whitman in 1914.

When Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for Governor, was asked what comment he cared to make on Col. Roosevelt's speech in which the Colonel declared for the reelection of Gov. Whitman, he said:

"I shall answer Col. Roosevelt in Col. Roosevelt's own words," said Mr. Smith. "In 1914 when Gov. Whitman first ran for his present office Col. Rooseveltvelt was a man of letters and a man of letters. The truth is not in him. It is an astounding thing that any sincere and upright man can support Mr. Whitman when all he has to do is to acquaint himself with the facts in order to get a vivid picture of Whitman's double dealing."

NO ROOM FOR TIGER, WHITMAN DECLARES

Governor in Queens County
Defends Himself Against Smith's Attacks.

POINTS TO LABOR RECORD

Says Tammany Man Never Earned a Dollar With His Own Hands.

Gov. Whitman carried his campaign into Queens county last night and at two meetings, one in the Astoria section of Long Island City and the other in Ridgewood, answered some of the charges against his administration that have been made by Alfred E. Smith.

"I understand," said Governor Whitman, "that Mr. Smith has said he is ready to take his wife and children and his cat and his dog and move up to the executive mansion at Albany. Well, there may be room in the mansion for the cat and the dog, but there certainly can be no room for the other animal that would go along if Smith were elected—the Tammany Tiger."

The Governor quoted John Mitchell, chairman of the State Industrial Commission, and James P. Holland, president of the State Federation of Labor, to disprove charges by Mr. Smith that Gov. Whitman had been antagonistic to labor. "Mr. Smith charges my administration with having weakened the laws protecting labor," said the Governor, "but he makes no specific accusation and he cannot go into detail. He said he could not understand Mr. Smith's deep concern for labor, who said that he had never heard of a dollar with his own hands."

The Governor quoted Mr. Mitchell's official report to refute Mr. Smith's charge that the "tiger" had been taken out of the workman's compensation law. The Mitchell report referred to the law as it had worked in this State as a "model" and said that relations between employer and employee were not better in any State than they are in New York. He said that the labor laws of this State were the best in the country and children were especially desirable.

Answering Mr. Smith's charge that the Whitman administration had spent more money than any other on highways and built less mileage, the Governor quoted a report recently submitted to the Federal authorities by the State Highway Commissioner. The report showed, Mr. Whitman said, that in 1914, the last year there was a Democratic Governor, the payroll of the Highway Department was $1,269,000 and 563 miles of road were built.

Smith, the Governor said, charged that the payroll was just as great this year, and that only seventy-five miles of road were built. As quoted by the Governor, the report to the Federal authorities showed in the seven months of October 1 the payroll of the department was only $267,000 and that 227 miles of road had been built.

SOCIALIST ALLEGES PLOT TO BAR VOTERS

Appeals to Whitman to Disarm Tammany.

Plans are being made to intimidate the Socialist election day, according to Julius Gerber, executive secretary of the Socialist party. He asserted that the party was being attacked by both Republicans and Democrats, it was decided to do everything possible to prevent the Socialists from voting in districts where there is fusion against them.

"I feel that you as Governor of New York should be appraised of this situation," said Mr. Gerber in a letter to Gov. Whitman. "It may be interesting to you to know that Representative Sullivan's district embraces the largest lodging house section of the city. There is a very large registration. If permitted to vote these people will not only vote against the Socialist party, but against you and your party as well."

"I feel that an appeal to the city authorities of New York, in view of the gangster methods permitted to be employed by Tammany Hall in the political campaign now being waged, would be in vain. May I direct your attention to the recent outrage perpetrated by some gangster upon one of our speakers on the lower East Side?"

Mr. Gerber said a masked gangster after stabbing one of their speakers had escaped into the club house maintained by the John F. Abraham Association.

MRS. A. E. SMITH IS GUEST.

She Is Entertained by Democratic Women in White Plains.

One of the features of the celebration of the 142d anniversary of the Battle of White Plains was a patriotic tea and reception in Democratic headquarters at White Plains, yesterday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, wife of the Democratic nominee for Governor. There were present a large delegation of women from various parts of the county.

Addresses were made by Mrs. Oliver Harriman, First War Mother of the War Mothers' Unit, who told of her work; Mrs. William Belknap, who talked of "Coming Democracy"; Mrs. Margaret Moore, whose subject was "The Principles of the Democratic Party"; and Mrs. Charles Noel Edge, who spoke about women's overseas hospitals.

COHEN MUST DIE FOR BAFF MURDER

U. S. Supreme Court Refuses to Review Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The United States Supreme Court today declined to review the case of Joseph Cohen, who was sentenced to the electric chair by the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court for New York county for the murder of Barnett Baff, a poultry merchant.

Barnett Baff, an old and well-known poultry merchant at the West Washington Market, was assassinated on Thanksgiving eve, 1914. It immediately developed that Baff had been involved in a controversy with rival poultry dealers, and four men, Joseph Cohen, Jacob Cohen, David Jacob and Abraham Graft, were indicted and tried for instigating the murder.

Antonio Cardinale, a broker in crime, testified Joseph Cohen had offered him $500 to procure Harlem gunmen to kill Baff, and had later raised the price to $700 when the murderers struck for higher wages. At the end of a long trial Joseph Cohen was sentenced to die during the week of October 1, 1917. Graft was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree and sentenced to twenty years in Sing Sing. The other two defendants were acquitted.

Cohen sought in vain to get a reversal from the Court of Appeals and then asked for a review by the United States Supreme Court. A new date will be set for his execution.

WHITMAN TAKES UP RAIDER JIM'S RAID

Swann and His Assistant
Called for Conference
by Governor.

ALL THREE KEEP MUM

Prosecutor and Police Not on Best of Terms Over City's Conduct, Is Report.

It may not matter so much after all that nobody was pinched in the last effort of that Modern Crusader Jim Smith to run down vice and crime and overthrow the Tammany machine. The Newbery inquiry was hampered by the refusal of the members of the candidates campaign committee to testify on constitution grounds, and by the fact that the police did not contain a single extra name as a result, and no City Magistrate had to be on the job on Thursday night, when usual vigilance was put out just to man Jim Smith's latest incursion into the realm of vice and crime.

Nevertheless, Jim's great efforts may not have been entirely barren. It will be remembered that Jim started out on his latest crusade against the dens of iniquity last Saturday night. Just about so long ago as the District Attorney Swann, had received a letter from Hissomier, the Mayor. The letter said that Crusader Jim, now and henceforth might not expect any help from Hissomier, the Mayor. The letter said that Crusader Jim, now and henceforth might not expect any help from Hissomier, the Mayor. The letter said that Crusader Jim, now and henceforth might not expect any help from Hissomier, the Mayor.

Raider Jim on Job.

Now as all New York knows by this time Raider Jim is an independent sort of raider and nothing piques him more than to have it suggested that he needs assistance in any raid he contemplates. Wherefore he decided to stage an independent raid. Readers of The Sun learned yesterday just how one Dominick Henry, now a police inspector by virtue of the favor of Commissioner Dick Enright, cut into the picture just at the big moment. The same readers will recall that from then on Jim's self-conducted raid was pretty much of a flounder when one considers the number of pinches made. The police weren't working with Jim, and Jim wasn't working with the police. Which fact may or may not lend interest to yesterday's developments.

There were some politicians, outside of city officials, last night who were of the opinion that some developments would appear, and probably suddenly. It was said that the Mayor, after the afternoon in the office of Jim Smith's boss when the telephone rang and the operator took a message to the effect that the Governor of the State of New York was at the St. Regis, that he would like to see Mr. Swann as soon as possible and that Mr. Swann might bring along his chief raider, Jim Smith.

From this point on the story is about as difficult to get at as the evidence Jim himself was after Saturday night. Certain it is, however, that Jim and Boss Swann got into a conference with the Governor and Jim and Boss Swann got into a conference with the Governor and Jim and Boss Swann got into a conference with the Governor.

Whitman Non-committal.

As far as could be learned from the Governor himself an answer is as good as a solution. He said that he had a conference with Mr. Swann and Raider Jim, and would not deny that it was on the question of Jim's midnight raids. He said that he had a conference with Mr. Swann and Raider Jim, and would not deny that it was on the question of Jim's midnight raids.

It's Not Unusual for the District Attorney to have a conference with the Governor.

"It's not unusual for the District Attorney to have a conference with the Governor," he explained. "I had many of them when I was District Attorney." "At your own or the Governor's request?" Mr. Whitman was asked. "Well, that may be, but there is nothing to say now—nothing now."

Gov. Whitman's reluctance to explain the reason of his conference with Mr. Swann was the subject of comment in certain official and political quarters last night. It was pointed out by some of his friends that Gov. Whitman would not deny that he had a conference with Mr. Swann and Raider Jim at this time if he had evidence sufficient to convince him that the lid was off in New York. That such action would be accelerated by the Governor into possession of evidence tending to show reluctance on the part of the Police Department to keep the lid held down was also accepted as a fact, and in this connection the recent action of Mayor Hylan to District Attorney Swann was recalled in that letter Mayor Hylan referred to the activities of Raider Jim and his associates in the city. It was said that they were cheap and despicable and that should not be countenanced.

Not the least interesting feature of the case that gives the Governor as to just what may be in the Governor's mind is the knowledge of somewhat strained relations between Mr. Swann and Mayor Hylan. It is known that in this connection the recent action of Mayor Hylan to District Attorney Swann was recalled in that letter Mayor Hylan referred to the activities of Raider Jim and his associates in the city. It was said that they were cheap and despicable and that should not be countenanced.

STATE ACCUSES CITY OVER CASH

School Money Used in General Fund, Is Charge.

Special Dispatch to The Sun.

ALBANY, Oct. 28.—Charges that New York city is diverting to its general fund money contributed by the State for city school purposes have been made to the State Department of Education. Superintendent of Schools Kittinger made the charges. The annual contribution by the State to New York city for the maintenance of its schools is approximately $2,500,000.

Superintendent Kittinger's charges will be heard later, it was announced tonight by Deputy State Commissioner of Education Fineson.

NEWBERRY INQUIRY SAID TO BE CLOSED

Grand Jury Will Take Up
Other Matters.

Federal Judge Mayer signed yesterday an order extending the sessions of the Grand Jury which has been inquiring into the campaign of Lieutenant-Commander H. H. Newberry, U. S. N., for the Republican nomination for Senator in Michigan from November 4 to November 18. The order was signed on the application of Dan A. Matthews, Assistant United States Attorney. He said he wished to present to the Grand Jury matters not relating to the Newberry inquiry.

S. R. Rush, Special Assistant Attorney-General, left last night for Washington. There was a rumor at the Federal Building that the grand jury had finished its inquiry into the Newberry campaign. Francis G. Caffey, United States Attorney, said that Mr. Rush had made no report to him. The results of the inquiry will not be known until the grand jury reports to the court and is discharged.

The Newberry inquiry was hampered by the refusal of the members of the candidates campaign committee to testify on constitution grounds, and by the fact that the police did not contain a single extra name as a result, and no City Magistrate had to be on the job on Thursday night, when usual vigilance was put out just to man Jim Smith's latest incursion into the realm of vice and crime.

WILSON OPPOSES REMOVAL.

Wants Government Departments to Stay in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Removal from Washington as a means of relieving the housing situation in this city of such Government departments as could as well transact their business elsewhere is deemed inadvisable in the opinion of President Wilson.

After consulting Cabinet members and the heads of various Government departments, the President, it is said, has decided that it is the consensus of such a move was unnecessary.

SMITH MAKES PLEA ON CITY OWNERSHIP

Democratic Nominee for Governor
Says Service Board Has Failed.

ATTACKS BARNES POLICIES

Calls Albany Leader Reactionary
and Puts Whitman
in Same Boat.

Speaking at Arcadia Hall and two other meetings in Brooklyn last night Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for Governor, asked what stand Gov. Whitman took on municipal ownership, and attacked the Public Service Commission.

"Unlike my opponent, who owes his nomination to reactionary influences," said Mr. Smith, "I declare my theory of law in a democracy to be that thing which best meets the present day needs of society and does the greatest good for the greatest number."

"The boss of Albany county coming out in support of the Republican candidate for Governor clearly states the issue when he says 'The Democratic party to-day presents to the people of the United States the greatest possible economic menace that it could have when the war is over.' What Barnes means by that is that he is against the development of our natural resources for the benefit of the people themselves, and he is opposed to the municipal ownership of public utilities. He declares that in his statement is just so many words."

"Barnes, like all reactionaries, is opposed to progressive Democratic measures and for that reason he supports Whitman and throws his strength into the fight against me. It is known from one end of the State to the other that he was the most active force in the party against Whitman. He fought vigorously to stop his nomination and in no uncertain language declared him unfit for the Governorship. He exposed further his real purpose and the purpose of men who think with him when he declares for Whitman, not because he believes in him but because he believes that he will stand in the way of progressive legislation along the lines that I have indicated."

Touching on the Public Service Commission, Mr. Smith said:

"Municipal ownership of public utilities is coming in this State and neither Barnes nor Whitman can prevent it. They can delay it and add to the discomfort, suffering and the inconvenience of the public in this city caused by the breakdown of the Public Service Commission. This is a matter over which the Governor should exercise some control. He appointed the Public Service Commission and he is responsible. In its eleven years of existence it has failed to justify its great cost to the people of this city."

"When a legislative committee investigated it the Democratic minority of that committee found certain flaws in the law itself, and it was behind these that the corporations hid and escaped effective regulation. The Governor took advantage of the findings of the committee to remove the Commissioners and replace them with men who helped him politically."

ally, but ignored that part of the report that would have strengthened the law so that that were the commission inclined it would have some real control over the service rendered by public service corporations."

Mr. Smith was accompanied by John H. McGoey and Borough President Riegelman. In addition to Arcadia Hall he spoke at St. Anthony's Hall, Greenpoint, and Congress Hall in East New York.

WHITMAN BETS GO BEGGING.

$20,000 at 7 to 5 Finds No Takers

Peace Wager Offered.

Percy Guard, a betting commissioner, said yesterday that he had $20,000 to place on Whitman at odds of 7 to 5 and only $1,500 on Smith to be placed against $2,400 at odds of 5 to 1. The only large wager yesterday was a bet of $4,000 between curb brokers at odds of 7 to 5, although a Stock Exchange firm offered $7,000 to $2,000 on Whitman through Mr. Guard.

The question of peace came in for a little attention yesterday, a customer of a curb house offering to bet $1,000 that hostilities would cease by November 15. His previous offer to wager $1,000 to $2,500 that there would be no war by Christmas, he said, still held good.

UNRIVALED SALE OF USED CARS

At prices impossible to duplicate after this sale ends

FIFTY cars of all makes—the finest we have ever offered—are now on display in the spacious showroom at 1826 Broadway, which we have leased temporarily for this sale. The space available in our permanent Used Car establishment a few doors north proved insufficient for the comprehensive line which we desire to show.

The sale includes a large variety of closed and open models of various makes—big, roomy six and seven passenger touring cars; comfortable and snappy four-passenger types; speedy and graceful runabouts; serviceable town cars, and luxurious limousines, landaulets and Sedans. Many of the closed cars are upholstered in the expensive imported goods that manufacturers easily acquired up to a year ago.

The popularity of the Hudson Super-Six has made it possible for us to take these cars in exchange at their actual value, without inflated allowances. We are not used car merchants in the usual acceptance of the term. We are in the automobile business primarily to sell new Hudson Super-Sixes. The used cars which we handle are trades, and we take them to accommodate our customers.

We put them in the best possible condition and price them as low as possible to move them quickly. We are not concerned about possible future profits to be gained by holding these cars for the overwhelming demand that will follow the great events fast shaping themselves in Europe.
